

INDO-CHINA PEACE PARLEY TAKING SHAPE

Foes Likely To Confer In Few Days

... At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—The antagonists in the bitter jungle war of Indo-China probably will face each other across a Geneva conference table within the next three days, it was believed.

Official French sources said the two most imposing obstacles of the peace parley had been removed. The Russians agreed to send the invitation to the Communist-led Vietnamese rebels and the Vietnamese formally agreed to meet their enemies provided no recognition of the Vietnam regime as a state was implied.

The Russian invitation will be countersigned by Red China's Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, the French said, but that is a fact saving gesture granted to Chou by the Soviet Union.

West Insistent
The Western, and particularly U.S. insistence that Red China could not be recognized as an "existing power" at this conference was respected.

A Soviet source said the Vietnamese delegation would be headed by the new foreign minister of Vietnam, Pham Van Dong.

The source said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would propose that India Burma Thailand and Indonesia also be invited to the Indo-China talks. The possible invitation of other countries is to be the first item on the agenda of the nine-party conference, Molotov, however, is not likely to insist on this point, the source added.

Vietnamese Foreign Minister
Nguyen Quoc Dinh is scheduled to leave for Paris by train for last-minute consultations with Prince Buu Loc, premier of the war-torn Indo-Chinese state of Viet Nam. It is understood the leader of the Vietnamese peace delegation has not been selected.

The conversations on Korea resumed with a statement by South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai against the strangling of Communism.

Following Pyun's statement, Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed formally the creation of a seven-nation commission to help the Communists get back 48,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners of war still unrepatriated.

Delegation deputies are to carry on the Korean talks concurrently with the conference on Indo-China.

A Soviet spokesman said the Vietnamese regime had accepted the invitation to the peace parley and would arrive within the "next few days."

Defenders Await New Red Smash

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The Communist-led Vietnamese rushed up fresh troops in long columns of trucks Monday night to the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu after calling off its third heavy and sustained assault on the hedge-hog defenses.

Hundreds of Molotov trucks were spotted moving into the encircling hills, their headlights gleaming.

The Red-led Vietminh troops unaccountably halted their third big do-or-die attack the previous night, after making savage headway into the encircling barbed strongpoints. They overran three strongpoints and part of a fourth and severely shelled up the defenses surrounding Brig Gen. Christian De Castries' central headquarters.

Strongpoint Totters

(A military spokesman in Paris said three outposts at the isolated strongpoint of Isabelle, south of the fortress' heart, were lost in the attacks of the night of May 1-2. This was the fourth strongpoint which was partially overrun. The spokesman said another post was lost but retaken by counter attack. "The center of resistance of Isabelle is entirely in our hands," the spokesman said.)

It appeared the rebels were using the breathing spell to regroup.

City Auditorium Expert Has 'Multi-Purpose' Plan

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Prospects for Lincoln's auditorium to be built in modern style and around a new arena-stage plan shaped up Monday with the appearance of Benjamin Moore, consultant from Spokane, Wash. Moore is considered one of the few authorities in the field of auditorium construction, especially in the area of saving basic costs and management. Moore said he is an advocate of the multi-purpose auditorium, which is the plan he submitted for use in Lincoln.

In an appearance Monday before the City Council, Moore said this city not only could operate without use of taxpayer funds, but could make a profit on operation of an auditorium. He estimated gross income of near $120,000 a year in addition to $20,000 from city-operated concessions.

Sports, Opera

Moore based his predictions on the fact that with a utility building, which he said Lincoln could have, the city could enjoy in the proper atmosphere both sports and opera. He said that with this type of building, the operations would pay for the initial costs within a period of 10 to 12 years.

Flavel Wright, chairman of the Citizens' Committee which met with the Council, said his group were of a mind to go along with the combined arena-stage idea.

The auditorium planner from Spokane Monday checked the facilities of parking around the 15th and N St. area and said that a number of "ramshackle houses in the area could be torn down to make way for adequate parking in the area."

He told the group that downtown sites for auditoriums have been in preference for a number of cities and had proved to be the general mode of thinking. At present, the state Supreme Court is considering a request for a rehearing on the site location for the city's building. Requests have been made by the city concerning the possibility for relocation to the Rogers Tract at 33rd and O St., with the consent of voters.

$2.5 Million

The cost of the auditorium has been set at around $2.5 million, including equipment. The facilities envisioned by Moore would include an arena seating near 8,000 and would provide for an ice-skating rink to be used by variety shows.

Moore said the Lincoln auditorium, when completed, would be able to compete favorably for shows now offered only by Omaha and the Ak-Sar-Ben. He said also that the theater in the auditorium under construction at Omaha will seat only 2,400 which, he said, limits the utility of the programs offered there. He said the Omaha building wasn't the type he considered modern.

Comment among councilmen Monday was to the effect that present plans for Lincoln's auditorium would have to be junked and new plans drawn to specifications offered by Moore. This would be in line, they said, with modern auditorium thinking.

News Around The Globe

Teachers Ousted

DETROIT (AP)—Two Wayne University faculty men were suspended after defying a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee and two grade school teachers were barred until they sign non-Communist oaths.

All four, who are paid from the public payrolls, refused to tell the congressional investigators whether they are or ever were Communists. Wayne, in an action announced by its president, Dr. Clarence Hilberry, suspended Dr. Gerald I. Harrison, 37, assistant professor of mathematics, and Irving Stein, 33, physics instructor.

Dean To Remain

SEOUL (Tuesday) (AP)—Special U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said he had cancelled his plans to leave Korea Friday and would remain here indefinitely.

Dean said the order came from Secretary of State Dulles but he would not elaborate. The ambassador has been conferring with President Syngman Rhee on South Korea issues at the Geneva conference.

22 Mines Close

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Bands of roving United Mine Workers pickets shut down 22 mines in western Pennsylvania in a move to halt non-union pits from operating.

Some 800 pickets, saddled with orders from UMW officials, geared the action against the Shanksville mine of Johnstown's Cambria Fuel Co. in Somerset County.

More Highway Engineers Are Needed—Ress

OMAHA (AP)—Nebraska, on the threshold of a big highway building program, needs 30 more engineers and 60 more engineering assistants.

The question, State Engineer L. N. Ress said, is where they are going to come from. Only three June graduates of the University of Nebraska are joining the State Highway Department.

Attempts are now being made, Ress told the annual roundup of the Nebraska Engineering Society, to hire young engineering graduates from Brazil and Chile. Six South Americans presently are working for the Kansas Highway Department, Ress said, and are doing well.

Urva S. Wochner, 62, Dies Suddenly; Resident 40 Years

Urva S. Wochner, 62, 1650 Van Dorn, died suddenly Monday night at his home of a heart attack.

Born in Bradshaw, Neb., Mr. Wochner moved to Lincoln in 1914 and for 30 years was farm manager for the Lincoln State Hospital. He served five years as a postal clerk before his retirement about five years ago because of ill health.

He was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, East Lincoln Lodge No. 210, AF&AM, and Capitol Chapter No. 320, OES. A veteran of World War I, he was a member of the VFW and American Legion Post No. 3.

Surviving are his wife, Hilda; a daughter, Mrs. Jean Martin, San Diego, Calif.; two grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Emma Berger, York; and three brothers, Edward and John of York and Fred of Wood River.

Services will be held at both Lincoln and York.

Legislature Raises Amendment Bill

that the session move slowly. "Let the people understand the proposal before they are called upon to vote," he pleaded.

Sen. Arthur Carmoy said the Constitution is for guidance. He pointed out that it has been in existence for 35 years and in the light of present tax conditions, "it is time to make at least minor alterations."

"Because we in the state have failed to do our job of equalization, does that prove the Constitution wrong?" asked Sen. Charles Tyrdik in opposing the measure. "It will not cure all our ills. There is nothing wrong that proper administration will not cure."

Sen. Earl Lee recalling that he had introduced legislation at past sessions for a constitutional convention said the present session would not be necessary had it been passed. He asserted that hearings and discussions on LB 4 were like a constitutional convention with one exception. "We could not be accused of running for office," he said explaining that such conventions are usually only held once in a generation. He recalled that the Legislature has "been wrestling with tax bills" for several sessions.

Lee said that many people were worried by some of the language "left out" of the original bill. He expressed confidence that the bill would never be advanced "without putting in wording like in the proposed amendment."

Committee Praised

The work of the legislative committee was praised by several speakers and nearly every speaker urged that plenty of time be taken in debate of the bill.

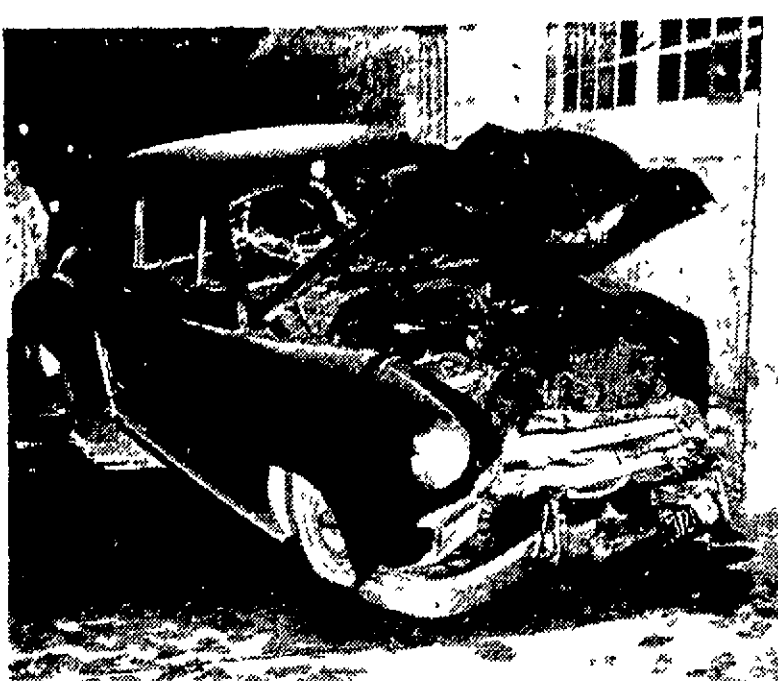

The two votes in opposition to bringing the bill to general file were cast by Sens. Adams and Klaver, both of Omaha.

LB 3 was advanced from general file and LB 7 to final reading after attempts to indefinitely postpone them were beaten down. The attempt to kill LB 3 failed 16 to 23 and it was then advanced by a vote of 25 to 15.

Sen. George Syas, moved to kill LB 7 which would make any sales or income tax a replacement for state property taxes and prohibit state levies on property. The move failed by a vote of 11 to 22 with 10 not voting.

The measure was then advanced to final reading by a vote of 28 for, to 9 against, and 6 not voting.

The motion to kill gained strength over a similar motion when the bill was on general file. Sen. Britt changed from favoring the bill to opposition. Sens. Adams, Cramer, Moulton and Person, who had not voted on the earlier motion voted to kill.

Attempt To Enter County Jail The Hard Way

A veering car driven by Hans R. Smith, 45, of 1952 So 25th, sheared off a light pole leaving two hot wires exposed and crashed into the county jail at 9th and K Monday night. A passenger in the car, David Fink, 39, of the same address, cut his face when he shattered the windshield in force of the impact. Fink suffered glass-cut gashes on his cheek and forehead and ear and multiple scratches about the face. He was treated at St. Elizabeth's Hospital and released after seven stitches were taken on his face. The accident occurred on a motorcycle. Officer Ray Gallspe, said when the Schmidt vehicle veered left while driving south on 9th Street to avoid missing a car ahead. (Star Staff Photo.)

Sales Same As '53

OMAHA (AP)—Department store sales in Omaha, Lincoln and Hastings for the week ended April 24 were on a par with those in the same period last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City reported.

Sales for the January 1-April 24 period were one per cent higher than a year ago. For the tenth federal reserve district as a whole sales were 2 per cent down for the week and 4 per cent for January 1-April 24.

Alabama Voting Interest High

Sparkman Bidding For Re-Election

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—One of the most intensive political campaigns in Alabama history ended Monday night.

Major interest centered on former Gov. James E. Folsom's fight for re-nomination and Sen. John J. Sparkman's bid for re-election in his first race since he was running mate to Adlai Stevenson in the 1950 presidential campaign.

A record turnout of 550,000 to 600,000 is expected in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Also at stake are three contested congressional races, the state offices, and numerous county offices.

NATIONAL ISSUES FEW IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana voters Tuesday will select candidates for Congress, the State Legislature, and local offices in a primary election virtually devoid of national issues.

The primary also will lead to settling, at least for the time being, a Republican factional fight for control of the state organization. It now is controlled by U. S. Senators Homer E. Capehart and William E. Jenner. They are being challenged by Gov. George W. Craig.

Craig's forces are trying to elect enough friendly precinct committeemen to give them control of county party reorganization meetings May 8. If they succeed, they can elect enough district chairmen the following week to unseat State Chairman Paul Cyr.

Indiana, with 11 Congressional districts, now is represented in Congress by 10 Republicans and one Democrat. Six of the 10 Republicans are not opposed for re-nomination. The only one of the other four who faces a serious threat is Rep. Earl Wilson of Bedford and he appears to have the edge over his opponent, State Sen. Ed Whitcomb of North Vernon.

Rep. Ray Madden of Gary, the lone Hoosier Democrat in Congress, faces only token opposition in the primary and is expected to win again in November in his heavily Democratic First District.

Big Ohio Turnout Expected

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Candidates in the main Republican race for nomination in Tuesday's election made final pleas Monday for a big voter turnout.

Rep. George H. Bender of Cleveland and Ohio House Speaker William Saxbe of Mechanicsburg kept their drives going in the face of predictions that about one in five eligible voters would mark ballots.

Winner of the Bender-Saxbe contest will face Sen. Thomas A. Burke, former Cleveland mayor, in the November election for the remaining two years of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's six-year term. Burke is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, serving his fourth term and bidding for a fifth, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Neither is State Auditor James A. Rhodes, former Columbus mayor, for the Republican nomination.

Voters also will nominate candidates for Ohio's 23 congressional seats and 169 in the State Legislature.

'Green-Faced Ape Man' Is Reported; Cops Unconvinced

LITTLETON, Colo. (INS)—Residents near Littleton, Colo., were a bit apprehensive over reports of a nightmarish green-faced ape-man roaming the countryside.

Three Littleton area men reported seeing the monstrosity playing catch with a dead chicken about seven miles south of Littleton.

The three men, identified as Tom Sliger of Littleton, Warren Jump, Colorado Springs Rd., and Frank Barton of Plum Creek Rd., described the creature as a "sickening looking green with a mouth about four inches across."

They said the ape-man was tossing a chicken up into the air and breaking very thick branches. A footprint of the creature, salvaged by sheriff's officers, measured five or six inches long and about the same width.

Sheriff John Hammond was not wholly convinced by the men's story.

He said: "I think somebody is trying to play some tricks. Or else we've got someone in on a flying saucer."

Ress To Seek New Viaduct Possibilities

State Engineer L. N. Ress said he will confer with Federal Bureau of Public Roads officials in Washington this week about prospects for a new "O" Street viaduct.

He said recent congressional action should improve the prospect somewhat.

The city several months ago "ceded" the land on which the present structure stands to the county, when it appeared federal funds available to the county for matching purposes might be used.

This plan ran into a snag, however, and the county now is about to give the right-of-way back to the city.

Meanwhile, additional funds made available by Congress may make it possible yet to obtain a new viaduct, Ress said.

He will confer with federal officials while at the national capital to attend a meeting of the National Highway Users' conference.

Equalization Board Holds Tax Meeting With Rail Carriers

The State Board of Equalization Monday held its first meeting with railroad representatives in connection with the 1954 assessment of the carriers.

The railroad companies seek a return to the old formula based 50 per cent on capitalization of earnings and 50 per cent on stocks and bonds.

Last year the board applied a new formula in which the historical cost factor was introduced.

The 1953 formula was 40 per cent for the cost factor; 40 for capitalization of earnings; and 20 per cent for stocks and bonds.

Railroad spokesmen pointed to reduced earnings in support of their contention that their assessments should be reduced this year by at least 10 per cent.

The first witnesses at the hearing were H. B. Bush, tax agent, and C. E. Larsen, general freight agent, for the Burlington railroad. Both men are from Chicago.

New Mexicans Vote In Off-Year Primary

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—New Mexico voters Tuesday go back to polling booths for the first time since the much-criticized 1952 general election.

The occasion is the off-year primary elections for both Democrats and Republicans. A maximum of 30,000 Republican voters and 70,000 Democratic ballots are expected to be cast.

The state's balloting practices have been severely criticized as a result of the bitter contest brought by Republican Patrick J. Hurley alleging irregularities in the election two years ago of Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM). Chavez retained his seat in a partyline vote.

Governor's Race

State and party officials since have taken steps to correct some of the procedures which drew criticism.

The race between former Speaker of the House Alvin Stockton of Raton and Socorro Mayor Holm Bursum for the Republican nomination for governor has drawn highest interest in an otherwise comparatively quiet and dull campaign.

The winner opposes John Simms Jr., of Albuquerque, unopposed on the Democratic ticket, in the November general election.

Special Contest Tops Election In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Some 700,000 Floridians vote Tuesday in party primaries dominated by an unprecedented special contest to fill the unexpired term of the late Gov. Dan McCarthy, who died last September.

Candidates made their final pleas and turned their cases over to the voters who can begin balloting at 7 a.m. (EST) in 1,724 precincts.

Democratic governorship candidates are LeRoy Collins, acting Gov. Charles E. Johns and Brailley Odham.

The Republicans will nominate either J. Tom Watson of Tampa or Charles E. Compton of Miami to oppose the Democratic nominee in the November general election.

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

Lewis Maneuvers To Halt T-H Revision

WASHINGTON — Some congressmen were amazed that three pro-labor Democrats voted against labor and with the Republicans during the recent house labor committee vote to stymie the National Labor Relations Board.

Secret reason was that they come from heavy coal-mining areas and John L. Lewis does not want a revision of the Taft-Hartley act or any other labor laws passed at this session of Congress. Any labor-law changes while Republicans are in control, he figures, would be harmful to labor. Especially he does not want any tampering with his health and welfare fund.

The strategy of congressmen friendly to Lewis, therefore, is to side with the reactionaries and load the Taft-Hartley act with so many anti-labor provisions that they will never get past the full Congress. Stripping the National Labor Relations Board of most of its functions obviously went so far to the right that the full Congress is not likely to pass it.

Two pro-Labor Democrats who voted to strip the NLRB were Cleveland Bailey of West Virginia and Carl Perkins of Kentucky, both from coal-mining areas; together with Carl Elliott of Alabama, from a partial coal-mining area. All three voted with the anti-Labor Republicans.

"Those fellows know what they're doing," one close friend of Lewis sized up the situation. "Labor won't gain anything from Taft-Hartley legislation the way Congress is now constituted—or, at least, Labor will lose more than it gains. Therefore, if the bill is loaded with controversial amendments, maybe that will kill off the chances of any legislation being enacted."

ACROBATIC CONGRESSMAN

If Bailey, Perkins and Elliott knew what they were doing, some of their colleagues didn't. Some committee members were frankly bewildered by Perkins' acrobatics during closed-door meetings on the NLRB abridgement.

The first vote to strip the labor board of its powers ended with 14 congressmen voting for the motion, 13 against. Bailey of West Virginia and Elliott of Alabama were among the 14 who voted to gut the NLRB. Perkins, who was absent, had given his proxy to Bailey, with instructions that he, Perkins, be recorded as voting "no"—in other words, to save the NLRB. This would have caused a 14-14 tie vote, and would have killed the anti-NLRB provision.

However, Bailey refused to vote Perkins' proxy, explaining he was "confused" about how his Kentucky colleague wanted to be recorded. Later, Perkins said that Bailey had "made a mistake."

"He should have voted me against deactivating the NLRB," declared Perkins. "I'm going to vote that way if we can get a reconsideration."

However, when the committee took up the question of reconsideration next day, Perkins amazed everyone by calmly voting exactly the opposite. He was against reconsideration. Bailey and Elliott also voted against reconsideration the previous day's action by the committee. Upshot was a 14-14 tie, meaning that the stripping of NLRB stood.

Perkins' behavior in talking one way and voting another may have confused his pro-Labor colleagues, but it was welcomed by committee reactionaries who also voted against the NLRB. Said Democrat Graham Barden of North Carolina, a confirmed anti-laborite: "The NLRB used to be stacked for Labor, now it's stacked the other way. Let's stop all this nonsense by transferring its powers to the courts, where they rightfully belong." (Copyright, 1954, by Bell Syndicate)

Midwest Casts Cold Eye On GOP Inaction

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—The Indo-China fiasco and the McCarthy-Army hearings seem to have come as a painful jolt to the Hoosier state, which enjoys a considerable reputation for individuality and political shrewdness.

This is the kind of thing, they imply, that wasn't going to happen when President Eisenhower took over. What they are looking for is order and good sense; they are anxious for some assurances that the present fog soon will lift.

On a brief sortie the Washington visitor of course can get only impressions and not a detailed record, but one at least is absolutely clear-cut.

It is that while the goings-on in Washington have a certain horrid fascination which is keeping a growing number of housewives away from the washing machine and glued to the magic lantern of TV, the verdict is critical and often disgusted. Taking Indiana as a sample, which it certainly is of the Midwest, vast numbers of people are not nearly as perturbed and excited as the Capital is over McCarthy, either as Red-hunter or Schine-defender, and over the war in Indo-China.

People tell you that McCarthy still has his public and that it is devoted, even fanatical, while there is here as elsewhere a veteran group of antis. But the great majority in-between seems to be questioning why so much time is being spent on the inquiry into Private Schine's army career.

At a rather large party, there was not one defender of the senator from Wisconsin, not even along the line that though his methods were dubious, his goals were dandy. In the election year of 1952, this was unheard-of.

Republicans of course perceive that the present show in the Senate caucus room is not doing the party any good, since the issue is between Republicans and tests the honesty of a Republican administrator as against a Republican senator.

Regarding Indo-China, the question most often asked is why Vice President Nixon spoke to the editors as he did, declaring we should if need be fight to hold that besieged country for the West. Plainly the country was not ready for anything so drastic, and the present Dulles withdrawal at Geneva was necessary as the congressional mail had indicated.

But though question marks are being put after the names of the vice president and Secretary Dulles, President Eisenhower continues to enjoy a charmed political life. He is given the benefit of every doubt and his power to lead has apparently not diminished. Not quite as many people "like Ike" with the warm, uncritical admiration they gave the nominee, but even here there is a tendency to admit he suffers from too much of a build-up.

What this means in political terms is that Congress will get the blame when blame is assigned as it may be next fall. Members of the House and Senate are already acutely aware of this fact. They can be expected increasingly to vote their local conditions—a trend which will do little to put across the Eisenhower program. (Copyright, 1954, by U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

ED FITZHUGH

Tar, Pie Pan, Turkey Feathers—It's A Hat!

The truth is not all it's cracked up to be. Not when you're talking to a woman, and the subject is a hat.

There was bounce in my step and joy in my heart until that milliner's mistake came into the house. "How do you like it?" Mrs. F. demanded.

"It looks like a pie pan dipped in tar and feathers," I replied lightly. "And then turned slowly over a smoking fire. It has all the charm of a wet turkey with its tail feathers caught in a mud puddle. It is completely atrocious and absurdly ridiculous. Yet it has a flair—a certain something. You'd know in a moment what it is, even if it were lost in a snowstorm. It couldn't be anything else but a woman's hat."

Now, I did not intend for an instant that my words should sound harsh or critical. I was simply being gay and irresponsible. After all, a man's reaction to a woman's hat is both traditional and unimportant. And when you're feeling good, and among friends, words pour out better than steel.

I thought no more about it until I heard Lee, our son, in the kitchen demanding to know what was wrong. "He's in the wardrobe!" said Mrs. F. "I can't bother him now. He's awfully important. He isn't feeling well at all, and he's grumpy."

Before I could get to the kitchen to refute this libel, there was a commotion there. The dogs, judging from the sound, had snatched a dish towel and wanted to romp. Mrs. F.'s voice soared through the rumpus.

"Get these dogs out of here," she commanded someone. "Your father's nerves are on edge, and all that noise will drive him wild."

I made my way noisily upstairs. I'd show her she couldn't get my goat! I slammed the bedroom door behind me and sang, "Home on the Range" at the top of my lungs. Nobody paid any attention. I subsided.

Just then I heard the fading notes of the piano from downstairs. Merrilee, our daughter, had evidently tuned up—and probably drowned me out. Her mother had, in turn, put the damper on the piano.

Sounds of tip-toeing and whispering came from downstairs for half an hour. It was as long as I could stand it. I went down I confronted Mrs. F.

"Look," I said, "I was only kidding about that hat."

"Gee," she said, all smiles. "It's nice to have you feeling better. I was beginning to worry about you. And it's a nice hat, isn't it?"

"Uh huh," I said. (Copyright, 1954, by Bell Syndicate)

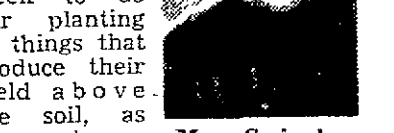

Garden Glances With The Moon

... Mrs. Joseph Wihart and the lilac planted by her father, the late Col. John P. Bratt in 1885 ...

As a fond mother, when the day is over, Leads by the hand her little child to bed, Half willing, half reluctant to be led, Still lingers but broken playthings on the floor, Nor wholly reassured and comforted, By promises of others in their stead, Which, though more splendid, may not please him more; So Nature deals with us, and takes away Our playthings one by one, and by the hand Leads us to rest so gently, that we go Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay, Being too full of sleep to understand How far the unknown transcends the what we know. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

We've a brand new moon to start this merry month of May. It's in the flexed, airy and barren sign, Gemini, today. Tomorrow night at 8:36 it will enter the movable, watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Cancer. Thursday and Friday are the days this week to do our planting of things that produce their yield above the soil, as snap beans, Mrs. Swingle okra, sweet basil, Florence fennel, plants of cabbage, tomatoes, broccoli, brussels sprouts celery, cauliflower, etc. Also sow seeds and set out plants of all annual flowers, as sweet alyssum, asters, balsam, cosmos, marigolds, petunias, zinnias, snapdragons, etc. Very very early Saturday morning the moon will enter the fixed, fiery and barren sign, Leo. This will be the day to set fence posts, and to paint and repair. Sunday just after 12 noon, second lunar quarter will begin, and Monday morning at 10:25, May's waxing moon will enter the flexed, earthy and dry sign, Virgo.

The speed of air travel is amazing. One flies from New York's La Guardia Airport to Omaha in less than six hours with a 45-minute wait and change of plane at Chicago.

Trees in Central Park and along the East River were leafing in new greens. Azaleas were masses of flame red and pink, and many another spring-flowering shrub was gay with color. Coming down into the Omaha airport, the grass was like a thick green carpet splashed strongly here and there with the gold of a million dandelions. Ah, Spring, what would you be without the velvet heads of dandelions?

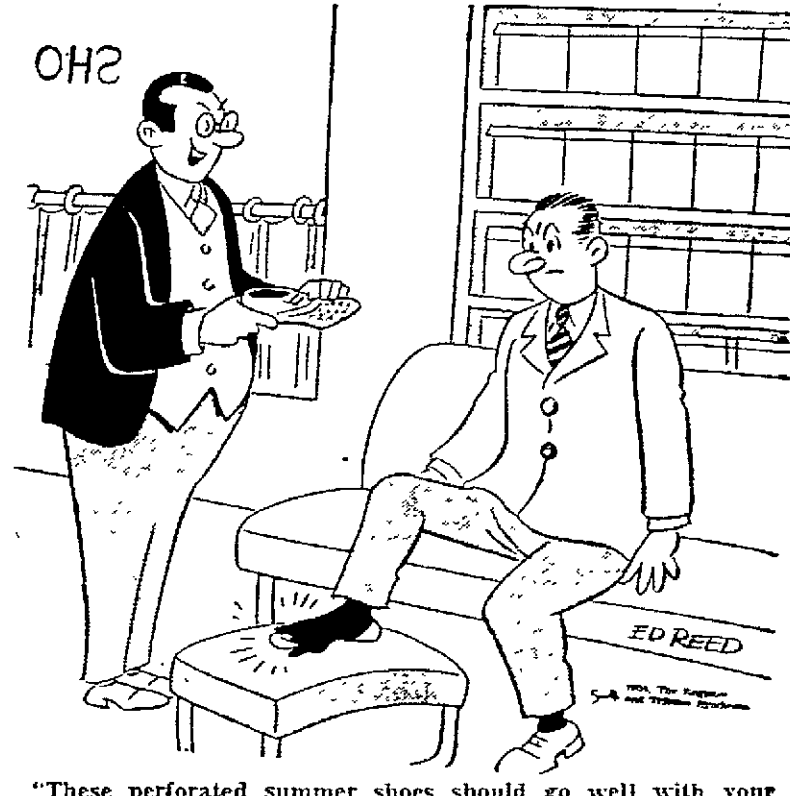

Red bud trees which are native to Nebraska were in full bloom in backyard and highway. These trees that are so decorative in springtime later have beautiful heart-shaped leaves to give shade. They grow readily from seed. I know, for the one in our background is a seedling and in bloom this year although it is just three years old. Sophia Byers of Crete gave it to me when it was just about a foot tall. Plant more red buds, particularly those of you who live in suburban homes, on farms and country estates. It is bliss, indeed, to be at home at "lilac time." I missed them last year when we were in Hawaii, and missed them the year before, too, but can't at the moment remember why. This being Nebraska's centennial year, I dashed down to Bennet in the rain to get a picture of a stately pioneer lilac. It is Syringa vulgaris, that fine old common lilac so fragrant and so hardy in Nebraska. It was brought from Illinois by the late Col. John P. Bratt and planted in 1885 with a companion plant in the front yard of his newly built home in Bennet. The other lilac is as tall this year, but needs attention, cutting out old canes, etc., and not so full of bloom.

This one we judged to be about 40 feet in circumference. In other yards about Bennet, one sees Syringa vulgaris almost as old as this one, and also the pure white panicles of Syringa vulgaris, Alba, and many, many fine examples of the newer French budded lilacs. These are the lilacs you should plant in your yards and gardens for future bloom and beauty. Persian lilacs make very decorative hedges and living fences, but they need lots and lots of space to spread, and certainly do not lend themselves so well to bouquets and arrangements as do the French hybrids, which wilt in a matter of minutes. So until another day—

Better Roads

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The citizens of Nebraska ought to commend the road commission for turning down the proposal for a super-duper four-lane highway. What we need in Nebraska is more and better roads for our own people, rather than spending our road funds for tourists and the big trucking interests. It was a wise decision on behalf of the citizens of this state who pay the money for better roads.

The White Spot

Omaha, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It was only a few years ago that the newspapers showed maps of Nebraska with the caption, "Nebraska, The White Spot of the Nation." One of the chief reasons for this motto was that Nebraska had no sales or nuisance taxes. I used to like to tell people in other states about it. But now we have a lot of people who are trying to advocate these new taxes and I am sure that if such were adopted here they would live to see their error.

There isn't anyone but would like to see a better way of tax equalization. But I sometimes doubt whether a sales or an income tax would be the solution.

Good Old Days

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Some may scoff at the good old days of long ago, but I think the world would prove a better place in which to live if we could turn back the clock and once again enjoy the peace and contentment of pioneer days begotten of hard work and going unto others as you would be done by.

Long, long ago in a house of logs I grew up as a lad with gun and dog. No horse to buy to hunt and fish. Plenty of game, inexpensive the dish. The winters were long, but from old folk we warm weeks that were old folk. And when another baby came, she never left her log domain.

But the neighbors came, just a few Who knew exactly what to do I still the good old doctor came In an open barrel, dressed with rain.

On Sunday morn we drove to town To hear the Word from Preacher Brown. The sinners few he did berate And never forget the collection plate.

Some friends there lived old days, Remember only in books and plays, When men were men and women women And no one heard of baby drin'. "Uh huh," I said. (Copyright, 1954, by Bell Syndicate)

The Battle Against Cancer

One of man's worst enemies today is cancer. The fight against it, by men of science, by the medical profession, goes on silently in the laboratories. And each year sees invaluable information gathered in the struggle against this grim killer.

In Lincoln Tuesday night sirens and motor horns will open a house-to-house canvass in the campaign to raise funds for cancer research. Lincoln people are asked to turn on their porch lights. Turning on the light will be notice to volunteer workers that the resident has an offering toward the Cancer Fund ready to hand to whoever stops at his door. Anyone missed or overlooked need merely to call any fire station, which will send out a flying squad for the contribution.

This year the campaign has been most methodically organized. In addition to the house-to-house canvass where the lights are on, firemen and policemen will solicit apartment houses, hotels and taverns for donations.

Give generously, for the battle against cancer is one of the most deserving causes to which philanthropic America can dedicate itself.

Is There A Middle Road?

The outcry in responsible administration channels in Washington grows louder hourly to junk the hearing between Sen. Joseph McCarthy and the Army.

That is understandable. It is not doing the Republicans, or the party in power, any good. But aside from partisanship, the question immediately arises whether there is a middle road or a middle ground in the matter of McCarthyism. Sometime, possibly not at this hour, but sometime the American people are going to have to face up with McCarthyism and with the senator himself. He is not the individual to be pushed into a corner or relegated to the obscurity of the sidelines.

He was re-elected to the Senate in 1952, running far behind some of the men whose names appeared on the ballot in Wisconsin along with his, but nevertheless he will be a figure in the Senate for at least four more years, controversial, disturbing figure. The prospect that the recall movement in Wisconsin will succeed is an exceedingly dim one.

So long as McCarthy's target was a Democrat, many of those now calling for an end to the hearings felt or said that they believed he was performing a great public service. Now they are not so certain.

Perhaps the smartest thing that could be done, if it is within the realm of possibility, is for this hearing to be pushed with all possible speed, brought to a reasonably early conclusion, and if action seems justified, then there be action.

Too Little And Too Late

When this was written, the fate of Dien Bien Phu was uncertain although it appeared only a matter of time before Communist forces overwhelmed that outlying fortress of Indo-China's jungles.

Obviously the western powers, divided in their view of the course to be followed in Indo-China, have suffered a setback. The British are not inclined to attach the same significance to the present battle in Indo-China that has been placed upon it by Secretary of State Dulles and other administration leaders. They, the British, do not concede that the fall of Dien Bien Phu means the overrunning of all the southeastern Asia by the Communists.

Here was one which from the very start offered very little hope for the free people of the West. While it was being said generally that we did not want another Korea, a very genuine expression on the part of millions of Americans, the basic facts made the case of Indo-China wholly different from that of Korea. The South Korean Republic enjoyed an independent status, was the victim of aggression on the part of North Korean Communists first, and later of Red China. Indo-China has been a French colony. We can draw all the imaginary lines of distinction, yet the fact remains that intervention in Indo-China in its impact on the Asiatic mind simply added up to preservation of the French colonial system.

That is a losing battle.

If there is anything clear with respect to Asia, it is that old continent and its crowded masses are moving away from imperialistic policies which have governed them. At all times it has been a matter of too little and too late in recognizing the awakened undercurrents sweeping Asia.

The Seaway Bill

The St. Lawrence Seaway bill has finally been reported out of committee where it has been stalled for several weeks. Now it will get the full treatment on the house floor and its chances of passing have therefore been enhanced, though not assured.

Seaway measures in the past have had difficult sledding and as is usual of measures that propose a substantial rearrangement of the nation's economic pattern they have been subject to heavy and determined lobbying. The present bill is no exception.

But lobbying to the contrary notwithstanding, there are new and important factors in this newest seaway proposal that go beyond local interests. The United States is running out of iron ore. It is also facing shortages in other resources. The day is coming when this nation must look beyond its own shores for an increasing supply of the raw material that feeds our advanced economy. And there is a great national stake in making available these materials at the lowest possible cost and the greatest possible convenience. The United States cannot expect to enjoy the abundance nor the leaping advances if the materials that provide them come so high as to price the bulk of the consumers out of the market.

The seaway will contribute to low cost materials and will play a substantial part in maintaining the economic bargain that has given this nation leadership. Everyone, not just a few industries, has a stake in it.

History Making Tests

This is likely to be a memorable week in the lives of almost 2,000 Lancaster second grade children. It is the week that they will receive the first shots of Salk vaccine and join in the nation-wide tests which are hoped will bring the long hoped-for protection against infantile paralysis.

There is always something memorable about being first. In this instance there is a great deal more. The Salk tests constitute a great collective voluntary experiment grouping courageous, public serving individuals against one of humankind's arch enemies. If they win then everyone wins. If the results are only nominal the quality of youthful service and adult effort have in nowise been depreciated. It is still of the highest and most enviable order.

Lancaster County may be justly proud of its opportunity to participate in the tests. And it is fitting, too, that it awards a place of high respect for its hundreds of children who are starting life with a great act of public service.

POSTCARD

Well Paris is no bargain town for the tourist at best. This looks like a rougher year than ever.

The French franc has stiffened. (Some say it is the Russian gold that has been sold in quantity recently in Europe.) Last year we bought francs at 400 to the $1 in New York before coming over. Legal, by the way. The French do not object to importing free market money.

This year the New York airport sold francs at 351. Compared to the official French rate of 350.

Such a paltry spread has put the seedy black marketeers of the Boulevard des Capucines out of business.

For the American tourist it means the dinner of $2.50 last year is $3 this year. The dress for $25 has risen to $30.

Anyway, it is a wonderful town and priced about equal to New York. Who can afford New York, unless you live there?

The chestnut trees are budding out. Just as though they were under contract to Tin Pan Alley. The optimistic French are sitting at the sidewalk cafes. Still bundled in topcoats, but hopeful.

The Parisian dogs trot snootily along the boulevards. And the sidewalk kiosks are a glitter of varnished cover magazines.

The French telephones, I must report, are as wildly unpredictable as ever.

"N'hésitez pas a telephoner au concierge si au cours de la nuit vous êtes réveillés par des bruits anormaux."

That is what it says on my telephone. Under the plastic. I translate this to mean:

"Don't hesitate to pipe the concierge if in the course of the night you are awakened by enormous brutes."

I am a little upset at this idea. What kind of operation do we have here at the Hotel Scribe? Frankenstein monsters walking the corridors? Also how do I get the concierge?

I have been trying to get the concierge for some time now. So far I have gotten a lady who speaks French so fast I hardly have time to thumb my dictionary.

I have gotten a dry cleaning establishment.

I got SVP. If you want anything in Paris, just dial "SVP." They are supposed to have all the answers. They had no answers about what to do about enormous brutes in the night. Or how to get the concierge.

I got a gentleman who cried: "Allo. 'Allo" twice, then abruptly hung up.

A porter came by and departed with my shoes. He was taking it on the Arthur Duffy through the door before I realized he had all of them. This leaves me barefoot. Immobile. On the end of a wheezing telephone. Maybe a couple of enormous brutes right outside the door for all I know.

Things are improving in Paris. Soap is now issued with the room. The cigarette girl at the cafe gave me matches with my cigarettes. The fact that Lucky Strikes go at 60 cents U. S. a package and the girl expects a 10-cent tip, is not the point.

You never got matches or soap a couple of years ago. The Paris taxi drivers still park in the middle of the street and refuse fares by some curious reasoning. They smoke fiercely on stubby pipes. When you approach, they seize the door-handle. So you cannot get in until you have stated your destination.

The answer is "No." About three out of five. If you want to question this (and I have), you get rare answers.

"I am not going in that direction." (He is not going in any direction as far as that goes.)

"I am going home to dinner." (I have just come from dinner.) (The hour of digestion.)

"Too far." "Too close. You can walk it easily."

As a matter of fact, I have become so steamed that I have thought of unrolling one of these hackies like a carpet. And I would expect most of them are enormous brutes. They might wake me up in the night.

The Nebraska State Bar Association has scheduled a tax institute for July 22 to 24 at Omaha.

The institute will be devoted to discussion of the new revenue act now before Congress.

The act will have an immediate effect on the making of wills by individuals, the formation of partnerships and corporations, and on their methods of doing business.

Assisting Nebraska attorneys in presentation of the subject will be these nationally known tax authorities:

Walter A. Slowinski, Washington, D.C., secretary of the tax section of the American Bar Association; H. Cecil Kilpatrick, Washington, former chairman of the same section; Edwin S. Cohen, New York City, advisor on the American Law Institute's income tax project; and Mark H.

Johnson, New York City tax attorney.

Secretary George Turner said the Nebraska Bar Association Institute will be one of the first in the country to consider the new law.

Scientists Make Plans For Observing Sun Eclipse

1st Glimpse Slated For Nebraska

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of scientists Monday discussed plans for observing the total eclipse of the sun June 30 a project they described as the most comprehensive observation of a solar eclipse.

One hundred scientists at 15 sites in 10 areas on the path of the moon's shadow will observe the phenomenon under sponsorship of the Air Force Cambridge Research Center.

Prof. J. Allen Hynek of the astronomy department of Ohio State University, said the moon's shadow is "like an express train, its speed is known, if we clock its arrival we can compute the distance between stations."

Dr. W. A. I. Heiskanen, director of Ohio State University's institute of geodesy, photogrammetry and cartography, said that after the June 30 eclipse the next solar eclipse spanning North America and Europe will not occur until June 14, 2151.

To Compare Methods

Air Force Capt. Ralph J. Ford, project scientist, said the major purpose of the observation will be to compare three methods of observing eclipses: obtain accurate measurements of distances and improve geodetic knowledge and increase knowledge of the size and shape of the earth.

Capt. Ford described the three methods to be used as the Bondorf, in which crescents of the sun are photographed as the moon passes between it and the earth, and Lunbald, in which, through photography, the flash or reversed spectrum is shown, and the Gaviola in which decreasing light intensity is measured as the moon's shadow blots out the sun.

Dr. Heiskanen said that this will be the first time all three methods will be used simultaneously. He said that although the distance between North America and Europe is known to an accuracy of about 900 feet, it is hoped measurements obtained through observation of the eclipse will result in more accurate figures. He said that because the speed of the moon's shadow and the precise time of its location are known, distances can be computed accurately through the use of the three methods.

3,000 Miles An Hour

Capt. Ford said the total eclipse will first touch the earth at sunrise in northeastern Nebraska. Then it will pass, at a speed of about 3,000 miles an hour, in a northeasterly direction across northern sections of the United States, southern portions of Canada, Labrador, and southwest coast of Greenland and off the southwest coast of Iceland, where it will reach its most northern limit. It will cross the southern part of Norway, leaving the earth at sunset near Jodhpur, India.

Capt. Ford said the scientists participating have donated their services. The cost of the project, he said, will be about $250,000.

Work Under Way On New Superior Grade School

Construction work is well under way on the new $250,000 elementary school building at Superior. The building will be one story of concrete and a block long. The building will be U shaped with the kindergarten at the far end. The main building will face the highway (foreground) and the gymnasium will be at the right. The old grade school building must be abandoned. The school is expected to be ready for use next January according to the contractor. (Star Staff Photo)

Young Driver In Tragic Car Crash Better

Lincoln Star Special

CENTRAL CITY, Neb.—Spencer Peterson, 16-year-old driver of the auto in which four persons lost their lives, was reported in "good" condition by hospital authorities.

The car he was driving crashed into the side of a west-bound Union Pacific locomotive in the city limits here during a snow storm.

Joan L. Peterson, 23, of Omaha, a sister of the driver, Roy Steuben, 3, of Omaha, and Judy Steuben, 5, of Omaha, nephew and niece of the Petersons, and Michael Belcastro, 4, of Omaha, another nephew were victims of the tragedy. The Steubens had died a few hours after the crash, while the other three were instantly killed.

Visiting Parents

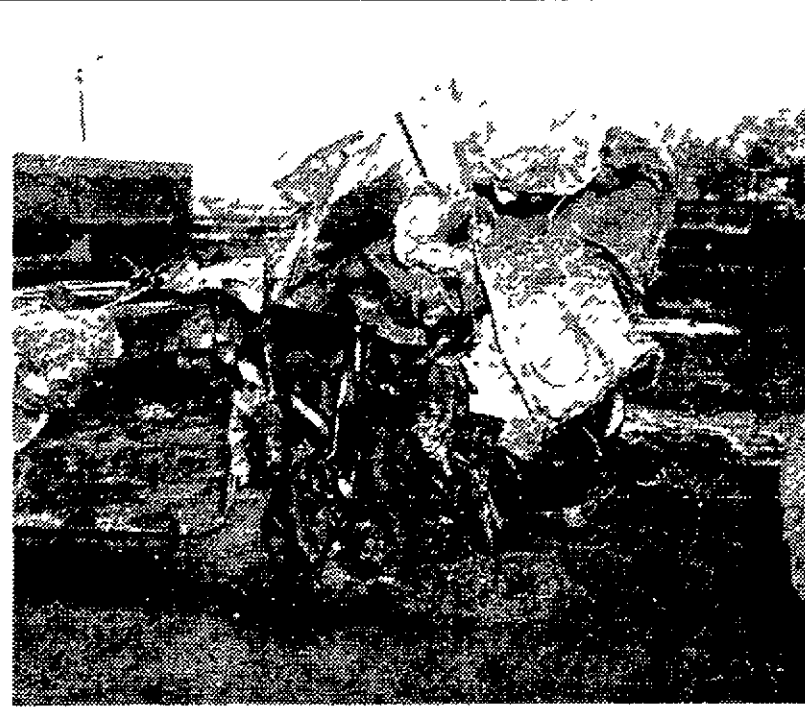

Miss Peterson had taken the youngsters to Central City for the week-end to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peterson.

Funeral arrangements for Miss Peterson and the youngsters are pending.

No further investigation is planned into the crash, according to County Attorney Stanley Torpin.

This accident marks the second rail crossing crash at Central City within a three-day period.

A truck driver, Charles Houston of Snyder, Colo., is listed as in "fair" condition in a Grand Island hospital from injuries he received when his grain truck hit a train at a Union Pacific rail crossing east of Central City.

Truck Driver Escapes With His Life

Charles Houston of Snyder, Colo., escaped death when his grain truck crashed into a train at a Union Pacific rail crossing east of Central City. Only this twisted mess remains of the truck cab. The driver is recovering in a Grand Island hospital. This accident and the one in which four persons met death at a rail crossing occurred within a three-day period in the Central City vicinity. Many Towns Plan Cancer Collections

OMAHA (AP)—Some 8,500 workers for the Nebraska division of the American cancer society will begin home collections for the cancer fund Tuesday night in Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont, Syracuse, Bellevue, Ralston, Ote and Unadilla.

Mrs. Harold Prince of Grand Island, state chairman, said the Nebraska quota has been set at $135,000.

Polio Tests Readied For Douglas Children

OMAHA (INS)—Douglas County doctors will begin polio vaccine tests on 4,300 public and parochial second-grade pupils Tuesday.

Youngsters from 143 schools will receive the shots, which will be administered again next week and a third time the second week in June.

Gothenburg School Issue Is Approved

GOTHENBURG, Neb. (AP)—Voters here have approved a $178,000 school bond issue to finance the start of an expansive building program. The vote was 560 for to 280 against.

The money will be used to build an 8-room elementary school, constructed to allow for expansion to a 20-classroom unit.

Manufacturing Firm Using New Structure

FRIEND, Neb.—The Taylor Manufacturing Co. has moved into the new building nearly completed on Highway 6 in the east part of town. The building is 30,600 feet, constructed of concrete block and has large sections of factory glass panels in each side and at the ends.

Iowan Wanted In Alleged Abduction Gives Up To Police

OMAHA (AP)—Ted Weimar Jr., 22, Council Bluffs surrendered voluntarily to Omaha police for questioning in connection with the alleged abduction of a 15-year-old Omaha girl.

Police had last week arrested Francis McEvoy, 19, of Council Bluffs. Albert Lustgarten attorney for Weimar, said his client fled from the scene, after the girl had leaped from Weimar's car, because he was "scared."

McEvoy had previously told police he had gone with Weimar on what he thought was a double date.

North Bend Voters Again Facing Issue

NORTH BEND, Neb. (AP)—A special election will be held here May 25 on a proposed $195,000 school bond issue. The same issue lost, 276-269, in the April 6 city election. The money would finance a new elementary school building and renovate an existing structure.

Mrs. Hanna May Run For Lt. Governor

Lincoln Star Special

SUPERIOR, Neb.—Mrs. Arabelle P. Hanna, chairman of the State School District Reorganization Committee said that she was seriously considering running for lieutenant governor and would announce her decision in the very near future.

Mrs. Hanna is a Republican. She is a past president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs and of the state federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, a member of the national legislative committee for the latter group and has served by appointment under three governors on state committees on safety, OCD and blind.

She has been chairman of the school district reorganization committee since its establishment in 1949.

Lt. Governor Charles J. Warner has already filed for re-election.

Continuation GOP Support To REA Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) Monday gave assurances of continued Republican support of the program for the rural electrification of the United States.

"It does not believe the REA should be made a political football," the senator said. "No single program has done more to make farm operations more efficient and farm life more pleasant than rural electrification," he continued.

The senator referred to charges from various sources that the present administration is letting the REA bog down.

"A brief glance at the figures will allay these fears," Butler said. "In the first 10 months of the present administration, REA made 275 electric loans, amounting to 136 million dollars, as compared to the preceding period under the prior administration, in which 253 loans, aggregating 133 million dollars were made."

Butler added "the past and future accomplishments of REA in improving our country can be administered best on a non-partisan basis, and the REA has no place in the political arena. It will continue to receive strong administration support because it is a good program, and it should be supported by every group on that basis."

Mrs. Majors, 73, Of Peru Is Dead

Lincoln Star Special

PERU, Neb.—Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church here for Mrs. James Majors, 73, longtime Peru resident.

Born in Clarksburg, W. Va., she came to Nebraska with her parents when she was four years old. She spent most of her life at Peru, where she was educated in the Peru schools, taking an active interest in music and art.

On February 22, 1950, she was married to James Majors. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1950. Mrs. Majors active in church and community affairs, was a member of the Methodist Church and Eastern Star.

Surviving in addition to her husband are one son, Sam of Peru; four daughters, Mrs. Glen Wrightman of Auburn, Mrs. Warren Hays of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. William McInch of Brownville and Mrs. Richard McGee of Downey, Calif. 13 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Goodhart Hunt Centered On Boulder Area

DENVER (AP)—The search for Leo B. Goodhart, 44-year-old Humboldt, Neb., rancher who disappeared mysteriously Feb. 17, will center in the Boulder, Colo., area this week.

Goodhart's wife, Una, his son, Jon, 11, and his brother, Dale, joined Jefferson County Sheriff Carl E. Enlow of Golden in canvassing motels north and west of here for some trace of the missing man.

Enlow said that the search was fruitless, although it was learned that a woman from whom Goodhart rented a car last Feb. 17 reported the rancher mentioned going to Boulder, Colo., to see "some people."

Two days later the missing car was found in a snowbank in Coal Creek Canyon near Boulder. Enlow said that area would be researched "as soon as the weather clears."

Mrs. Goodhart said an offer of $1,000 for information leading to her husband's location still stands, adding that relatives feel he is a victim of amnesia.

State Briefs: Tot Injured In Fall From Moving Car

HOLDREGE — Five-year-old Patty Hickman is recovering in a local hospital from injuries received when she fell from a car traveling about 50 miles an hour, east of Holdrege on U. S. 6. It was reported a door of the car flew open and the youngster fell to the pavement.

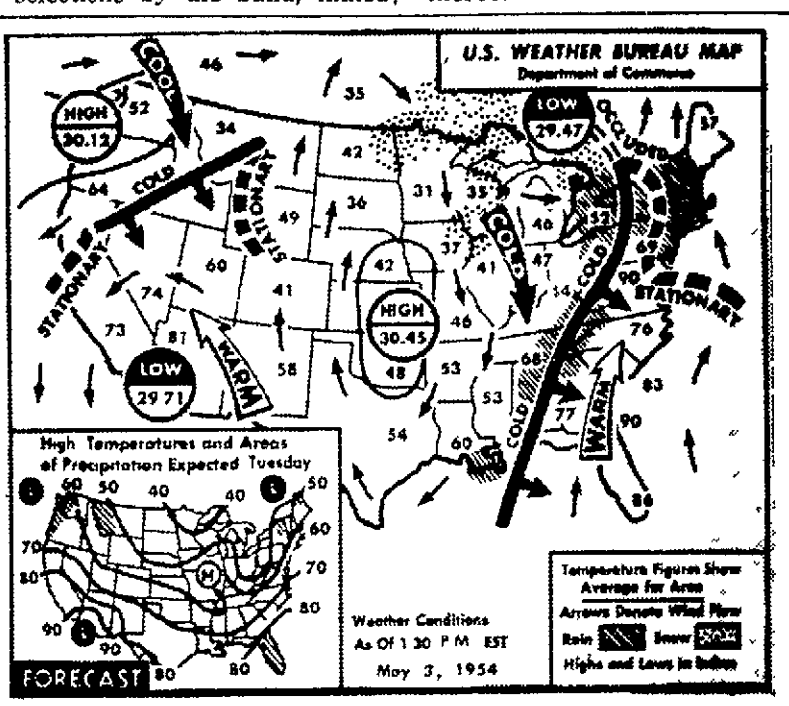

TECUMSEH—Mrs. Harlan Rengstorff of Sterling has been appointed county assessor of Johnson County to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Assessor Wm. J. Ehmen.

ENDICOTT—Charles Kasperek, farmer living near here, reports a partially tame deer running with his cattle. The deer has been with the cattle all winter and comes up into the farm yard where it jumps the high fence to eat the grain with the geese.

SPRINGVIEW—The annual spring concert by the music department of Keya Paha County High School will be given at the auditorium Wednesday night. The program will include selections by the band, mixed choir, girls' glee club and boys' glee club.

WINSLOW—About 50 members attended the monthly meeting of the Dodge County Volunteer Firemen's Association here. A discussion was held on the three-day state fire school recently held in Grand Island.

ATKINSON—More than 250 grade school children from Atkinson and 20 rural schools in this vicinity are expected to participate in a "song fest" here Tuesday. Supper will be served to the out-of-town children by the Atkinson Chamber of Commerce.

Little Temperature Change Seen Tuesday

Showerly weather will be limited on Tuesday to the Florida Peninsula, the mountain sections of New York, the northernmost sections of Minnesota and the Northwest Pacific coast while occasional light rain is in store for the northern Rockies. It will be cooler in the Atlantic and Gulf states as well as in the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys. It will be warmer in the western Lakes region, the Mississippi Valley and the northern plains. Little change in temperature is expected elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

'United Action' Flunk Puts Allies In Crisis

U.S. Diplomats Believe Soviets Have Chance To Split West

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
WASHINGTON (INS)—Apparent collapse of U.S. efforts to save Indo-China by immediate "united action" has thrown the free world into its most dangerous crisis of the cold war with Russia.

The somber conclusion of high-ranking U. S. diplomats is that the two great dangers are:

1. For the first time the Soviets now have a real chance to split the West, their cardinal diplomatic objective since the final months of World War II.
2. The whole system of strategic defense so carefully planned for the Pacific and Asia now is in danger of toppling like a house of cards.

Immediately the Communists are fighting to break out of the "pattern of pressure" which U. S. diplomacy and economic sanctions has ringed around them.

Biggest Prize
After that breakout, through Indo-China and southeast Asia, the Reds are expected to go after Japan and her industry, the biggest prize in all Asia.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has left Geneva en route home to make the "agonizing reappraisal" of the U. S. position which weeks ago he warned might have to be made.

It was announced President Eisenhower will send Dulles to Congress shortly after his return to brief bi-partisan leaders on the Geneva conference and the crisis that now faces America. Dulles returns Tuesday and probably will meet Thursday with the House and Senate leadership as well as ranking members of the Foreign Affairs and probably the Armed Services Committees.

In Geneva Dulles declared he will continue to try to invoke collective security action to save southeast Asia, but he spoke against the background of British refusal to join any immediate "united action" to save Indo-China.

Relations between the two great Western Allies became so tense last week that Dulles was reliably reported to have given British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden "unmitigated hell."

The reason for the sharp words was this:

In the U. S. view British refusal to join united action knocked the props from under the whole careful U. S. system of strategic defense in the Pacific.

At the bottom of the controversy was the basic difference in British and American ideas on how to prevail over Communism without world war.

Each nation desires to break the alliance between the Communist giants, Russia and China. They disagree on method.

Britain wants to make friends with China and woo her away from Russia through economic and other benefits.

The U. S. view is that the only way of breaking the alliance is to create pressures which may drive them apart.

There are some potential points of friction U. S. planners hope can be aggravated. But this is long-range. Nobody in authority has the slightest hope of any early break between the two Red powers.

Louder Gavel

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen Mundt's gavel was louder Monday than at any previous time in the televised McCarthy-Army hearings.

Smiling broadly the acting chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee explained to this nationwide audience that the Capitol architect's office had given him a wooden sounding board for the gavel.

He pointed out that it not only would make the rapping more audible but, also would protect the finish of "this beautiful" mahogany committee table.

Elizabeth Welcomed To Malta Stronghold

VALETTA, Malta (AP)—Cheers, gun salutes and peals of church bells rang from the medieval ramparts of Malta to welcome Queen Elizabeth II to this Mediterranean stronghold of the British empire.

The gay celebration was combined with a solemn ceremony in which the Queen unveiled a monument honoring 2,300 Commonwealth airmen who died in defense of this strategic Naval base in the early days of the World War II.

Largest Opening Day Crowd Sees Sparkling Shrine Circus

By BARCLAY BAYLEY
Star Staff Writer

A very unceremonious-like temperature did nothing to dampen the enthusiasm of the estimated 3,000 persons, mainly children, who attended the opening matinee performance of the Shrine Circus Monday.

Stanley R. Purizer, Sesostrius Shrine Temple general chairman for the event, said that the crowd was the largest for an opening-day afternoon in the circus' nine-year history of appearances here at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Purizer estimated that 1,200 children from Seward, 500-600 from Ashland, 500-600 from Wilber, 60-75 from Humboldt, and a large group from Tecumseh attended. These school children were the guests of Shriners and friends of the Shrine in the respective communities.

Lions, Tigers
The show started off with a roar—roaring lions and roaring tigers. Capt Joe Horvath and his troupe of "jungle-bred lions and tigers" went through some fancy paces which included the captain casually reclining on one of the beasts.

Reappearing as something especially connected with Lincoln were the baby twin elephants. They put on their first act while the show was in Lincoln two years ago. They are official mascots of the Nebraska Navy.

As part of "Music Appreciation Week," Wanda The Seal "sang," rhumbaed and played a set of horns. The tune mercifully went unidentified.

Drawing one of the biggest rounds of applause and the oh's and ah's of the audience were the Whiz Kids and Mel Hall. Hall heads the unicycle troupe and is charmingly supported by his three small children, Ervin, 5; Carmen, 3; and little Jimmiv, 2.

"At an age when many kids are learning the mechanics of walking and running, the two youngest pedaled their one-wheelers at a neat clip around the ring. Ervin put on an almost-adult performance.

Pollenburg's Performing Bears, one brown and one black, smoothly ran through boat rowing, roller skating, and high cycle riding in eye-catching fashion.

An Arabian nights paceset of gaudy costumes, camels and horses was the introduction to nine trapeze artists whirling about the arena at one time.

Silent Sound Waves Used To Halt Unbearable Pains; Fight Insanities

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Silent sound waves beamed into the human brain can sometimes halt unbearable cancer pains and combat some insanities, Dr. P. A. Lindstrom of Pittsburgh says.

Dr. Lindstrom, neurosurgeon formerly married to Ingrid Bergman, said the method is painless and works as well as the surgeon's knife without causing troublesome effects.

He uses ultrasounds, beams of sound of such high frequency they are inaudible to the human ear. The wave is beamed through holes made in each side of the forehead.

Results on 27 humans, mostly in great pain from hopeless cancer, were as good as those obtained with lobotomies, the surgical cutting of nerves or removal of part of the brain lobes, he said. Lobotomies are widely used to control pain or treat some insanities.

But lobotomies often cause undesirable changes in personality, incontinence, convulsions, interference with judgment, headaches or other trouble. There were no such complications from the sound waves, he said. Some patients had very satis-

Fate Of Cpl. Dickenson Studied No Verdict Is Reached

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jury of eight high-ranking Army officers Monday deliberated for five hours and 22 minutes on collaboration-with-the-enemy charges against Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson and then recessed until Tuesday without reaching a decision.

The case went to court-martial at 9:09 a.m. (EST) and except for lunch the officers stayed on the job until 3:35 p.m., when a recess was ordered until 8:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Dickenson was a prisoner of war in Korea.

Two-Thirds Vote
Unanimity is not required for conviction. A two-thirds vote—in this case 6-2—is necessary, however.

Dickenson sat impassively as the chief law officer, Col. Richard P. Scarborough of Macon, Ga., delivered a 40-minute series of instructions to the jury.

The Cracker's Neck, Va., youth faces a possible maximum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted.

"Reasonable Doubt"
A handful of spectators awaited the decision at Ft. McNair.

In instructing the court, Scarborough said Dickenson must be acquitted if the jurors find that there is a reasonable doubt of his guilt, or that any of the acts he is charged with were done because of duress, coercion, or lack of mental responsibility as a result of pressures by his Communist captors.

Ivy Day Daisy Chain Readied

Famed Dancer Sampih Slain
LONDON (AP)—Enemies, jealous of the fame and the small wealth he brought back from a successful Western tour, strangled Bali's famed male dancer, 28-year-old Sampih, letters from Indonesia reported.

News of the murder came from European friends in Bali to John Coast, London impresario who brought Sampih and a troupe of Balinese dancers and musicians in 1952 to captivate audiences in New York, London and other Western capitals.

The letters said Sampih's strangled body was found floating in the Lauh River that winds through the village of Sayan where the dancer lived with his wife and child.

Sampih—a dancer since he was 9—had returned home, the letters said, the proud possessor of such "a-ton" (Balinese word for "modern") things as a wrist watch, an American fountain pen, a camera and a small radio, as well as enough funds to buy some rice fields.

It appeared Sampih was the victim of personal spite and envy, the letters said.

U Of N Ivy Day Festivities To Climax Year's Activities

Traditional Ivy Day festivities, climaxing the year's student activities, will be held Saturday morning on the University of Nebraska campus.

This year's program will include the presentation of the May Queen, a senior chosen by a vote of University women, and her court, song competition for groups representing women's and men's organized groups, and "tapping" of new members for Innocents and Mortar Board, honorary activity societies for senior men and women.

The event will begin at 9:15 a.m. just north of the Administration building at 12th and R. Marvin Stromer of Hastings, junior class president, and fed James of Dundee, Ill., senior class president, will plant the ivy. The class presidents also will present scholarship cups to the senior man and woman with the highest scholastic averages.

Kathleen Wilson of Wolbach will be soloist, singing "Ivy Song," and Rosemary Castner of

Career Woman

1-9-5-4

To be one of four chosen from 60 applicants puts quite a bow on anyone's dancing shoe, and Betty Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Barber, did just that. Miss Barber is now a member of the famous Radio City Music Hall Rockettes' precision line.

After two years at the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Kappa Delta, Miss Barber decided she would try her hand at dancing, and immediately set forth for New York City to reside with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sabin — and to apply for a spot in a dance group. That was last November.

Recently Miss Barber was one of 60 girls to be auditioned for the Rockettes—and one of four to be chosen for the precision line.

The young dancer began her dancing lessons at the age of 11, at the Hazel Johnson School of Dancing where she was a student until she left for New York.

While on the Nebraska campus Miss Barber had dancing numbers in Co-Ed Follies and Kosmet Klub productions, and was a member of Orchestras.

Mrs. Barber, who left several days ago to attend a convention in Washington D.C., will visit her daughter in New York before returning home.

To Be Morning Bride

MISS ADA BRITTEN, whose marriage to Linus R. Stark will take place Tuesday morning, May 4, at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Cathedral, Miss Ada Britten of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Britten of Red Cloud, will become the bride of Linus R. Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil A. Stark of Friend. In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the Rev. Conrad Marrama will read the lines of the service.

Preceding the ceremony, a prelude of organ music will be presented by Miss Catherine Gillespie, who also will play the wedding music and will accompany Joe Crawford, vocalist.

The maid of honor and her sister's only attendant will be Miss Pauline Britten of Lincoln who will wear a tailored suit in the rose tone with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Linus O'Brien of Friend will serve Mr. Stark as best man, and seating the guests will be Emmett Spohn of Friend, and Raymond Britten of Red Cloud.

Miss Britten, who will be given in marriage by her brother, Donald D. Britten, has chosen for her wedding a softly tailored ensemble of rose tweed accented with a linen collar. Her small white hat is briefly veiled and she will carry a white prayer book ornamented with a cluster of pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon will be held at the Kopper Kettle.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will reside on a farm near Friend.

Head Founders Day

The Lincoln members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority celebrated the organization's 25th anniversary, Monday evening, when they met for a Founders Day dinner and program at the Lincoln Hotel.

Mrs. Edith Dunn of Ogallala, state president of the sorority (at left) presented an address on "ESA Ideals," following the dinner, and the invocation was given by Dr. Frank A. Court, minister of St. Paul Methodist Church. Dinner music was presented by Walter Carlson.

In charge of arrangements was Miss Ione Rischling of Lincoln, (at right), state treasurer and first president of the Nebraska Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Delian-Union

The annual spring banquet of the Delian-Union Alumni of the University of Nebraska was held Saturday evening at Continental Cafe with Abdul Sidiki as master of ceremonies.

More than 50 members attended the dinner and program when speaking contest awards were made to Leonard Kerstedt, Taghi Kermani and Hess Baluch. The program also included a reading by Dorothy Fisher and music by Leonard Kerstedt, Taghi Kermani and Lenore Faubel. Also participating in the program were Orman Meyers and Clark Gustin.

is arriving from the west coast a week from today—and that some new residents are arriving from Allentown, Pa., at the end of the week—and that of course spring brides are much in the social picture these days, too—so all in all we have quite a collection of news—

THE GUEST We mentioned is Mrs. Jack Landale who arrives from San Diego, Calif., next Tuesday to spend some time as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Schaumberg — For the campus vintage of some years back—Mrs. Landale is the former Helen Giltner, Alpha Phi at Nebraska.

COMPLIMENTING Mrs. Landale the day of her arrival will be Mrs. Schaumberg who has invited a small group of Mrs. Landale's close friends for luncheon at the Lincoln Country club.

AND sometime towards the end of the week the Rev. and Mrs. John R. Waser and their two daughters, Lois and Judith, are expected to arrive from Allentown, Pa. The Rev. Waser is the new associate minister and director of education and activities at the First Presbyterian church.

The two Waser daughters will be in school in Lincoln—one of them in junior high school—and the other in senior high school—Incidentally—the family will reside at 1908 B St.

ONE of our late May brides is Miss JoAnn Dosek, whose marriage to Lt. Jack Scoville will be solemnized on Saturday morning, May 29. Next Sunday Miss Dosek will be the incentive for an 11:30 o'clock brunch for which Miss Virginia Noble, Miss Martha Lee Miller and Miss Jean Thomas will be hostesses at the home of Miss Thomas. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a one-gift shower.

Miss Dosek was an honoree last Thursday evening when Mrs. Robert Mallory entertained a group of the bride-elect's former high school friends at a dessert supper at her home. A hostess gift was presented to the bride-to-be.

TO CHICAGO the past week-end went Mrs. C. N. Overmar who is spending a few days as the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Harrington, and her young grandson, Richard.

Plans June Wedding

Announcement has been made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marian Sadle to Earl Van Steenberg of Gothenburg, son of Mrs. Frances Van Steenberg of Franklin, by the bride-elect's father, S. M. Sadle.

A graduate of the university of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Phi and Phi Chi Theta, Miss Sadle has been employed as secretary to the dean of the University of Nebraska Teachers College. Mr. Van Steenberg attended Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The wedding will take place on June 19, and will be solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Trinity Methodist Church.

THE WAY MY FAMILY LIKES IT

Paradoxically, according to Mrs. William H. Browne Jr., (Lesley Grainger), now that she has a new "helper" in the kitchen, she can't get as much done as she could before William H. III arrived. Now Mrs. Browne has even more need of recipes such as her contribution for a curried veal casserole dinner that can be made at her leisure and isn't hampered by interruption.

With this main dish, the Browns like steamed rice, hot rolls, a green salad, pineapple sherbet and brownies. A word of warning from today's cook: don't tell your guests what's in this, or they won't eat it!

ENTERTAINS Club Members
The Friendship Club met at the home of Mrs. D. T. Venter Friday afternoon with Mrs. Doll Skinner of Aurora and Miss Eva Pierce as guests. Following a luncheon, a May Day program was presented by Mrs. L. Seymour after which the afternoon hours were spent with games. Winning high score was Mrs. J. A. Brown.

Sorority Has Election
Members of Alpha Theta chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, have elected Mrs. Jane Sheffert president of the group for the coming year. Other new officers will be Miss Dee Finnigan, vice president; Miss Dee Mailahn, secretary; and Miss Betty Torrey, treasurer.

The officers will be installed on May 24 at a ceremony to be held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Leopold, sorority sponsor. A steak fry will precede the meeting.

Park PTA
The executive board of Park PTA will meet at 1:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in room 112 of the school.

The Stork Club

Sewer Bond Issue Is June Ballot Possibility

Council Action On $3.5 Million Program Needed By Monday

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln voters may be asked in June to approve a bond issue calling for $3.5 million to support construction of storm sewers reported by the city engineering department as needed for the city.

Dave Erickson, city engineer, told the City Council, however, that the taxpayer will contribute no more than he now is to the program if the bonds for the sewers can be sold at 1.5 per cent over a 20-year span.

Under the present taxing system for storm sewers, some $200,000 is garnered annually from taxes paid locally. This sum over a 20-year period would back up the present bond issue. Erickson, however, said the present construction could be expected to cover only the expansion rate in the city of the next five or six years.

$21,000 Bid On Swimming Pool Okayed

A bid of $21,000 was accepted by the City Council Monday for remodeling and additions to the municipal swimming pool. The bid was the same figure as the revised estimated cost submitted earlier by the city engineering department.

Bridge Construction

Erickson said that beyond five or six years it would be difficult to make plans that would adequately suit the city's needs because of expansion. The complete program, he said, includes projects along both Antelope Creek and Dead Man's Run, these consisting mostly of bridge construction.

Erickson said the plan he presented to the Council Monday "pretty well will bring the city up to date on its storm sewer program." He said the Council "will have to act next Monday to get the issue on the ballot." This was believed to have meant the issue would have to get Council action in order for the issue to appear on the ballot in June.

The city engineer said the city and Sanitary District One will have to agree on a program of mutual participation before any final program can be worked out.

City Council OKs Paving Districts

Approved on third reading by the City Council were paving districts 1307-10 on 53rd between Franklin west of 53rd extended east and Sumner- and paving district 1308 on Dunn between Calvert and Pioneer.

The following paving districts were approved for file plans, specifications, and estimates of costs:

1322-10th, Calvert 150 feet south of Prescott; Prescott 10th to east line of Lot Union addition. Estimated cost $38,500.

1321-Prescott, east line Lot 31, Union addition to 14th. Estimated cost $4,400.

1285-30th, Aylesworth to Colby. Estimated cost $6,700.

1292-31st, Calvert to Calvert, Calvert, 30th to 31st. Estimated cost $9,600.

The Council approved opening of sewer district bid 549 for the following: 63rd, Francis to 300 feet north; Francis, 63rd to 300 feet west; the alley between Francis and Lexington from 63rd to a point 183 feet east.

Symphony Guest Star

Right at the moment it seems a long time until January—but January has a habit of appearing right on the dot each year, as does the Lincoln Symphony Association's guest artist series — always planned a long time ahead.

So, we consider January of 1955—and the Lincoln Symphony Association and come up with Ruggiero Ricci, noted violinist who is to appear with the Lincoln Symphony orchestra on January 25.

Ricci is one of the young stars in the field of violin, but he has gathered fame in every land and every city in which he has performed—he is considered "fabulously gifted," by more than one music critic, and has been acclaimed by all critics from coast to coast as one of the world's greatest violinists.

Gov. Crosby Indicates Rural Education On Lay Meet Slate

Gov. Robert Crosby indicated that the problems of rural education will receive adequate attention at the next Lay Leadership Conference.

The governor in his speech to the Nebraska Council for Better Education Monday noon said there would be adequate representation from rural areas at the conference. He also said he had noticed an increased interest in schools during his term in office.

Don Kline, executive secretary of the NSEA, said he opposed LB 7 since the elimination of the state from the property tax field magnifies the differences between the mill levies in school districts.

Kline favored LB 8 which would provide for homestead exemption.

Wagner Checking 'Backgrounds Of Inmate-Suspects'

Lincoln Co. Atty. Frederick Wagner said Monday he is "checking into the background of certain inmate-suspects" in connection with the slaying of Penitentiary Guard John Clausen on April 16.

No names were disclosed by Wagner, but his statement heightened speculation that the break in the case could come soon.

The recent trend in the prison investigation appears to be a consolidation and fortification of the evidence.

Wagner said he and Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch spent five hours at the prison Sunday going over the case evidence with Warden Herbert Hamm and his deputy and State Safety Patrol investigators, plus interviews with several inmates.

Homebuilders Ask Store Classification In Village Area

A request has been made to the City Council for a local business classification for stores which will be located in the area of the proposed Homebuilders Village in the vicinity of 32nd and Fremont.

Plans call for the shopping center to be L-shaped and will, according to Ervin Peterson, president of the Homebuilders Association, be provided with ample off street parking. The housing village when completed will include 242 apartment units. Peterson said he hopes to have the first units under construction within a few weeks.

Sparse Crowd Hears Panel Experts Discuss Problems Of Mental Health

A panel of experts Monday night discussed mental health problems as part of a statewide observance of Mental Health Week.

A sparse crowd at Love Memorial Library auditorium heard the six-member panel answer questions which had been mailed in earlier in response to a letter sent out to 1,000 persons in Lincoln.

Members of the panel were: Dr. Richard Gray, assistant director of the State Hospital here; Dr. Stewart MacDonald, director of the Child Guidance Clinic; the Rev. Loren Pretty; Dr. William Hall of NU Teacher's College; Dr. Garnett Larson, NU School of Social Work; and moderator the Rev. Charles Kemp, pastor of First Christian Church.

Early questions dealt with the problem of nervous and mental breakdown. Dr. Gray said that "the terms nervous and mental breakdown are the same." He added that he did not believe that there was an increase in such breakdowns. "People are becoming more aware of such cases and are demanding that they be treated. The increase in the population has increased the number of them but not the per cent."

Council OKs Beer License Renewals

The relations between parent and adolescent child came under the questioning of the panel, also. The consensus of opinion was that, while conflict between the two is not "inevitable," it is necessary for the parent to make a real effort to understand the child. "There is no hard-and-fast rule," Dr. Hall said, "each case must be studied as to the individuals involved."

Flash Fire Kills 5 In One Family

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Fire flashed through a two-story frame home, killing five sleeping children.

A sixth child and the father safely fled the flames. The mother, not home when the fire broke out, suffered shock on learning of the tragedy.

Killed were Mary Ann, 11; Elizabeth Jean, 10; Bernard Jr., 8; David Michael, 6, and Dennis Paul, 23 months—all children of M. and Mrs. Bernard J. O'Brien.

Five-year-old Patrick O'Brien was shoved out of the burning house by his father who suffered burns of the face and hands.

Sandy Stingy With Hits; Sox Whop A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—R i g h t-hander Sandy Consuegra retired the first 19 Philadelphia batters to face him Monday before giving up the only two Athletic hits to Spooks Jacobs as his Chicago White Sox teammates pounded four pitchers for 17 hits and a 14-3 triumph at Connie Mack Stadium.

Consuegra had the A's batsmen baffled and only four balls were hoisted to the outfield in the first full six innings.

In the seventh, after Joe DeMaestri had grounded out to shortstop, little Jacobs stepped into the batter's box. Spook had gone hitless in his last 22 trips to the plate when boom—

It was line double into short left field and the Consuegra spell was broken. He retired the next five batters easily but at the start of the ninth: more trouble.

Joe Astroth was safe on an error, pinchhitter Al Robertson walked and DeMaestri fled out. Up came Jacobs, the spoiler. His bunt was good, and Consuegra, in nervous haste trying to catch Jacobs, heaved the ball wildly to right field—and two runs scored. Jacobs, now on third, scored on Ed McGhee's fly.

That ended the game for the 2,703 paying fans which the White Sox had sewed up, to all intents and purposes, with an eight-run scoring spree in the third. This was a six-hit rally that Consuegra personally launched with a single. The biggest blow in this stanza was a two-run double by Johnny Groth while Chico Carrasquel collected two of his four

Turpin Saw 'Whole Bunch Of Mitris'

ROME (AP)—Britain's Randy Turpin said he saw "a whole bunch of Mitris" Sunday night before the Italian middleweight flattened Randy in 28 seconds.

Turpin's manager, George Middleton, said Monday that the first thing Randy will do when he returns to London in three or four days will be to see a medical specialist.

He quoted Turpin as saying just before the bell rang for the brief encounter:

"My eyes are queer—I can't see anything."

"I told him," said Middleton, "to make sure he saw Mitri and nothing else."

A moment later, after the knockout, Middleton said Turpin told him:

"I could see five or six Mitris—all in a line. I was all right if I looked at the floor."

Turpin told Middleton after the fight that even then, "I can see three or four of you."

Otherwise, however, said Middleton, Turpin was fine.

"He was angered that the fight had been stopped," said Middleton as saying: "I'm okay. I can go 20 rounds. Why did they stop it?"

Middleton said that Turpin saw no doctor here and does not plan to see any. He will spend three or four days sightseeing in Rome and then will return to London.

"The first thing we will do there," said Middleton, "is see a specialist."

Joe Wilman is the first to have bowled more than 1,000 games in the Chicago All-Star tournament. He has been in the finals nine times in 13 years.

Determine Will Skip Preakness

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Determine, winner of the 80th Kentucky Derby, will head back to California Wednesday, skipping the Preakness at Pimlico on May 22.

Owner A. J. Crevolin and Trainer Willie Molter said they decided to skip the Preakness with their little gray colt—the first of his color to win the Derby—because they didn't want to "push our luck too far."

Molter pointed out that Determine had won seven stake races out of eight starts, losing only to Hasty Road in the record-breaking time of 1 minute, 35 seconds in the Derby last Tuesday, but defeating Hasty Road in the big race last Saturday.

Jockey Ray Rork, astride the Alhambra, Calif., horse in the Derby, started the long drive back to the west with his wife Mouday.

Crevolin previously had announced that Determine would go in the Preakness in an effort to annex another third of racing's coveted triple crown, which consists of wins in the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont.

Determine was not enrolled in time to be eligible for the Belmont.

It was known that Crevolin wanted his horse to go in the Preakness and that Molter did not. Finally Crevolin bowed to his trainer's judgment.

Molter said, when it appeared that Determine would go in the Preakness, "Since he can't win the triple crown I would just as soon ship him back home but the boss (Crevolin) has the final say naturally."

The trainer had said of the Belmont that "Determine was an April fool, and it would be asking too much of him to go a mile and a half in mid-June. The race might kill him."

Molter however, scoffed at reports that he wanted to retire Determine.

"His retirement would be an awful blow to my stable," said Molter. "I see no reason why he should not keep on winning at 4, 5, and 6."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vic Raschi scattered seven hits and Ray Jablonski hammered out a three-run homer Monday night to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to an 8-2 victory over the New York Giants.

Raschi, who gained his second victory without a defeat, held the Giants to no more than one hit in any one inning. Six of the blows were singles.

The victory moved the Cardinals into a virtual tie for first place with the idle Philadelphia Phillies. The Phils have a .600 percentage while the Redbirds stand at .588.

The Giants scored their only runs in the opening inning when Monte Irvin smashed his fifth home run of the year after Raschi had walked Hank Thompson.

Freezeout Delays Adams Tourney

Lincoln Star Special
ADAMS—Cold weather caused postponement of the Class C district baseball tournament to be played Monday at Adams. The first-round games have been postponed until Wednesday to give the weatherman a chance to get squared away.

Sterling and Ceresco open play at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Valparaiso and Louisville meet at 8 p.m. Adams and Geneva drew byes. Second round games have been moved back to Saturday, May 8, but the finals will be played Tuesday, May 11, as scheduled.

Brazil Hits Switzerland

MONTREUX, Switzerland (AP)—Brazil has qualified to meet England in the second round of the European Zone Davis Cup tournament by beating Switzerland, three matches to one.

The fifth match of the series was abandoned because of heavy rain when Brazil's Pedro Guimaraes was leading 6-0, 6-5 against Paul Blondel of Switzerland.

Musial, Sauer Chasing Jackson In Batting Race

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran outfielders Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs and Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals are challenging pace-setting Ransom (Randy) Jackson of the Cubs for National League batting supremacy.

Jackson, who led by a healthy margin a week ago, saw his average drop to .426. Sauer, meanwhile, moved into contention at .412, followed by Musial, a six-time batting champion, at .400.

Bill Glynn of the Cleveland Indians still tops the American League with a .406 mark, but Detroit rookie Bill Tuttle is right at his heels at .404. Figures include Sunday's games.

Jackson, after swinging at a .500 clip last week, went 4-for-16 and dipped 76 points. Teammate Sauer, on the other hand, collected nine hits in 17 trips and gained 59 points. Musial, with 12-for-22 during the week, boosted his average 84 points before Monday night's game.

Brooklyn's Duke Snider, fourth with .385, and Don Mueller of the Giants, fifth at .381, also had phenomenal weeks at the plate. Snider delivered 12 hits in 24 at bats and raised his average 68 points, while Mueller climbed 95 points with 14-for-28.

With Al Rosen taking over at first base for the Indians, Glynn had only one at bat during the week and his average fell 13 points. Tuttle, tied for second a week ago, went 6-for-15 and advanced to within two points of the top.

Cleveland's Bobby Avila jumped to fourth with .355, an increase of 22 points achieved on 9-for-23. Jackie Jensen of the Red Sox rounds out the five leaders at .354. Jensen, tied for runner-up honors last week, skidded 51 points with 2-for-11.

Meanwhile, Sauer is off and swinging in the home run parade. The Chicago Cubs' 35-year-old outfielder has thumped eight homers and is two weeks ahead of his hitting timetable of 1952, when he walloped 37, drove in 121 runs and was voted the National League's most valuable player.

Sauer didn't collect his No. 8 homer two years ago until May 16. He waited until May 24 to hit his ninth and No. 10 didn't come until May 27. His final bag of 37, after a late season slump, was matched by Ralph Kiner, whom Sauer now follows in the Cub batting order.

Sauer admits that he is out to beat his $70,000-per-year teammate this season in homer production.

"If there is going to be a battle in the league for home run honors, I hope it is between me and

Hogan To Defend U.S. Open Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan, seeking an unprecedented fifth title, and five other former champions are among the 405 early entrants for the U.S. Open Golf Championship at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N. J., June 17-19.

Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U.S. Golf Association, said the field already includes six former champions, including Hogan, the defending titleholder. The others are Cary Middlecoff, Lew Worsham, Lloyd Mangrum, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell.

Farrell, the Baltusrol Club pro, was the No. 1 entry. He won the crown in 1928.

Sam Snead, runnerup to Hogan in '53 and conqueror of Bantam Ben in the recent Masters, also has filed his entry.

NOW...A SAFETY TIRE AT A POPULAR PRICE

THE NEW ALL-NYLON TUBELESS Firestone "500"

EXTRA HIGH-SPEED SAFETY MARGIN

91% STRONGER THAN ORDINARY TIRES

WITHSTANDS 40° HIGHER PAVEMENT TEMPERATURE

The Firestone "500" was developed at the Indianapolis "500" Speedway to give you extra high-speed protection on today's super highways. It stands up under race track speeds faster than you'll ever drive... gives you a 15 MPH safety margin over conventional tires.

The all-nylon cord body of the Firestone "500" withstands the hazards of rocks, curbs and other causes of impact breaks. Unlike ordinary tires which develop weakened cords after several hours of driving, the "500" can be driven continuously without growing weak or "tired."

The Firestone "500" easily withstands the menace of internal heat generated by high-speed flexing and pavement radiation. It is virtually immune from temperatures which cause ordinary tires to "pop" like toy balloons... gives you more protection than you need, even on a desert.

Costs Less than Half the Price of Premium Tires and Safety Tubes . . . Only Slightly More than First Line Tires and Tubes

Mrs. Alta Dare, 74, Annual Knighthood Of Youth Banquet Slated

The 23rd annual Knighthood of Youth banquet, honoring the outstanding youth for citizenship in each of the county's elementary schools outside of Lincoln, will be held Tuesday evening at the Lincoln Hotel.

Five hundred persons are expected to attend, including approximately 125 youths to be honored, their parents and teachers.

The banquet was originated by the late William Gold and has been continued by his son, Nathan J. Gold, in connection with a program to promote good citizenship in schools introduced 25 years ago by the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Guest speaker will be Dr. C. Vin White, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, whose address will be "A Worthy Workman."

Mayor Clark Jeary will welcome the youths, and Merle Hale, Lincoln Chamber of Commerce vice president, will speak briefly.

Response for the honored youths will be given by Carol Andell of School District 64.

Banquet guests will also include State Supt. F. B. Decker and Dr. Edith S. Greer, state director of elementary education.

An entertainment feature will conclude the banquet.
